OYAN KRISTIAN, ST

CEO OF NTT DMC PT. KOMODO FLORES TOURS

East Nusa Tenggara is not just a destination, but a series of stories about nature, culture, and authentic community life.

NTT DMC is here as a strategic partner that bridges this potential into a quality, responsible, and sustainable travel experience.

With a deep understanding of the destination, a strong local network, and professional service standards, we are committed to delivering journeys that are not only memorable for travelers, but also have a positive impact on the region and local communities.

This is our commitment. Building tourism in NTT that is valuable today and sustainable for the future.

About Our Company

- We are the only DMC (Destination Management Company) that focuses on developing and focusing on promoting potential are as in NTT/East Nusa Tenggara.
- Our company focuses 90% on B2B program and the remaining 10% direct B2C

The Story

The Company Started in 2013 focusing on Eastern Indonesian Destinations. Lack of local operator and agencies here in East Nusa Tenggara made us took opportunity in this section and promote East Nusa Tenggara tourism destinations (Flores Island, Labuan Bajo & Komodo National Park, Sumba Island, Alor Island and more). Expanding beyond Eastern Indonesia, we are also preparing to introduce new destinations, including West Sumatra (Padang and Bukittinggi), Java Overland routes (Bandung, Yogyakarta, and East Java), and East Borneo (Derawan, Maratua, and Kakaban).

○ East Nusa Tenggara

If you're seeking white sand, spectacular diving and surf, bubbling hot springs, majestic waterfalls and hidden traditional villages – away from Bali-esque crowds – then Nusa Tenggara is your wonderland. Spreading west from the Wallace Line dividing Asia from Australasia, this archipelago is jungle-green in the north and tending to drier savannah in the south and east. In between are limitless surf breaks and barrels, technicolor volcanic lakes, pink-sand beaches, swaggering dragons and underwater worlds filled with colour and creatures. You'll also find a cultural diversity that's unmatched, even in multicultural Indonesia. Animist rituals and tribal traditions still thrive alongside minarets, convents and chapels, and though Bahasa Indonesia is the lingua franca, each island has at least one native language, often subdivided into dialects. From a beach-forward, tourist-ready vacation to stepping outside your comfort zone for the sort of experiences that leave an indelible mark on your memory, you're exactly where you're supposed to be.

○ Why East Nusa Tenggara?

East Nusa Tenggara (NTT) is emerging as a world-class tourism destination, gaining growing national and international recognition. Iconic sites such as Labuan Bajo, Komodo National Park, and Sumbarepresent, the region's unique blend of natural beauty, cultural authenticity, and sustainable tourism practices.

As one of Indonesia's Super Priority Tourism Destinations, Labuan Bajo continues to develop with improved infrastructure and global visibility, while Komodo National Park remains internationally renowned for conservation and eco-tourism. Sumba has also gained global recognition as a premium destination through responsible and community-based tourism.

With increasing global accolades and strong government support, East Nusa Tenggara offers high quality, sustainable travel experiences and stands as a strategic destination within Indonesia's future tourism landscape.

Why East Nusa Tenggara?

In 2025 and moving into 2026, Labuan Bajo, the Komodo National Park (TNK), and the province of NTT received the title of World's Best Tourism Destination (by BBC), and they are continuing their efforts to become a sustainable tourism city, supported by the preparation of the NTT Regional Long-Term Development Plan (RPJPD) 2025-2045, which focuses on fair and sustainable development. However, UNESCO has raised concerns about tourism infrastructure in TNK. The Komodo National Park (TNK) and Labuan Bajo (the gateway): They were named the World's Best Tourism Destination 2026 by BBC.

Sumba Island in Indonesia was named one of the top destinations to visit in 2025 by TIMEOUT & FORBES Komodo National Park was chosen for the first place of The 11 most beautiful places in Asia.

The International Survey Institute, named Sumba Island, East of Nusa Tenggara Among CNN Travel's as number one The Best Places to Visit in 2024.

The Spectator Index named Waerebo Traditional Village in Manggarai Regency, East of Nusa Tenggara as The Second Most Beautiful Village in The World 2024 after Rothenburg Ob der Tauber in Germany

The UN Tourism named Waerebo Traditional Village in Manggarai Regency, East of Nusa Tenggara as The Best Tourism Village 2021.

○ Why East Nusa Tenggara?

Lonely Planet has just ranked East Nusa Tenggara as the Best Value Destination in the World to visit for 2020! We are in number 1 then Budapest, Madhya Pradesh India, Buffalo NY, Azerbaijan, Serbia, Tunisia, Cape Winlands South Africa, Athens Greece, dan Zanzibar Tanzania.

For the second year in a row, Indonesia's Nihiwatu hotel in Sumba Island takes title of No. 1 hotel in the world in Travel + Leisure's annual World's Best list (2017). The resort, which resides on the Indonesian island of Sumba, is approximately 250 miles east of Bali, according to Travel + Leisure. Modeled after traditional thatched-roof homes of this small island, the hotel features native Sumbanese artwork and textiles in its private estates and villas, as well as a private pool in each room Sumba Island, located in East Nusa Tenggara (NTT) Province, has been named the most beautiful island by German Magazine, Focus (2018).

○ Why East Nusa Tenggara?

World's most popular tourism website, Lonely Planet, recently released the Best Destinations to Explore in 2015. Indonesia through the island of Flores in the province of East Nusa Tenggara, was chosen among the Top 10 Regions Best in Travel 2015, along with Macau, Rocky Mountain USA, Atacama UN Chile, and more.

Flores was chosen among the world's best regions since, aside from being a habitat to the giant Komodo Dragons, the region is also known as a divers paradise and is decorated with looming volcanoes and lush tropical forests. The island is recognized as offering a complete adventure for travellers. There are many places where visitors can indulge in their sheer beauty. Situated west of Flores, Labuan Bajo is a peaceful small port complemented with beautiful beaches nearby. In 2012, UNESCO honors the village of Wae Rebo with Asia Pacific Award for its effort to preserve the architecture of its traditional homes. Lonely Planet also recommended other small towns such as Bajawa which still retains well preserved traditional culture. According to Lonely Planet, a week in Flores can provide a truly fascinating experience. A trip to the Moni area and Mounth Kelimutu will offer its own memorable experience. The sunset over the three-colored Lake is definitely an unforgettable spectacle. Further to Maumere, you will discover Paga Beach which radiates a serene atmosphere.

Komodo National Park

Spectacular Komodo, its steep hill sides jade in the short wet season (December to March) and frazzled by sun to a rusty tan that makes its crystal waters pop the rest of the year, is the largest island in Komodo National Park. A succession of peninsulas spread east, each providing a different perspective with some fringed in pink sand due to red coral offshore.

By Air

The two main gateways of Flores is Labuan Bajo in the west and Maumere in the east. The daily flight from Denpasar to Labuan Bajo's Komodo Airport takes around 90 minutes and to Maumere's Frans Seda Airport takes around 115 minutes.

By Sea

From Benoa harbor in Bali, it takes around 36 hours voyage on the sea before you reach Labuan Bajo. For sea cruises, you should really consider your time, the season and the updated schedules at www.pelni.co.id for convenience.

By Land

Getting to Flores overland requires perfect planning. Public bus is available to take you across from harbor to harbor. Sea crossing is available on speedboats and local ferries, all depending on the availability.

Flores Island

Flores, the island given a pretty but incongruous Portuguese name by its 16th-century colonists, has become Indonesia's Next Big Thing. The serpentine, 670km Trans-Flores Hwy runs the length of the island, skirting knife-edge ridges, brushing by paddy-fringed villages and opening up dozens of areas few tourists explore. The island is a cacophony of smells, swinging between coffee roasting in the hills, clove cigarettes, exhaust fumes and the unmistakable scent of the ocean. In the west, Labuan Bajo is a booming tourist town combining tropical beauty with nearby attractions such as Komodo National Park, superb dive spots and white-sand islands. The east is attracting an ever-greater number of travellers chasing smouldering volcanoes, emerald rice terraces, prehistoric riddles, exotic cultures, hot springs and hidden beaches. Away from the port towns most people are nominally Catholic. Many more are part of cultures dating back centuries, living in traditional villages seemingly unchanged in millennia.

Get There

The flight from Denpasar or Labuan Bajo to Flores takes about 1 hour. Meanwhile, Garuda Indonesia flies only Jakarta-Kupang (on the island of Timor) from there you can connect on local airlines to Flores.

○ Sumba Island

There's something truly enchanting about Sumba. With its rugged, undulating savannah and low limestone hills growing maize and rice, it's nothing like Indonesia's northern volcanic islands. Scattered throughout the countryside are hilltop villages with tall, symbolic grass roofs clustered around megalithic tombs, where nominally Protestant villagers still respect indigenous marapu (spiritual forces) with bloody sacrificial rites.

Encircling Sumba are white-sand beaches that are the stuff of dreams, as are the island's secret swimming spots and waterfalls further inland. Throw in some of Indonesia's most prized ikat (patterned textiles) and the annual Pasola festival and you have one of the most diverse islands in Indonesia where adat runs deep and small children with big smiles shout 'hello mister', irrespective of gender. One of Indonesia's poorest islands, an influx of investment has seen villages swap thatched roofs for tin. Traditional dress is reserved for special occasions and remote villagers expect generous donations from visitors.

Get There

At least 2x daily flights from Denpasar, Bali to Waingapu & Sumba with Lion Air, Garuda, Sriwijaya/Nam Air.

○ Timor Island

Timor is an island at the southern end of Maritime Southeast Asia, north of the Timor Sea. The island is divided between the sovereign states of East Timor on the eastern part and Indonesia on the western part. The Indonesian part, also known as West Timor, constitutes part of the province of East Nusa Tenggara. Within West Timor lies an exclave of East Timor called Oecusse District. The island covers an area of 30,777 square kilometres (11,883 square miles).

The name is a variant of timur, Malay for "east"; it is so called because it lies at the eastern end of the Lesser Sunda Islands. Mainland Australia is less than 500 km away, separated by the mentioned Timor Sea. The capital city of East of Nusa Tenggara Province is Kupang City, in Timor Island.

Get There

Daily flights from Denpasar,
Surabaya, Makassar, Jakarta with
Lion/Batik Air, Garuda, Citilink.
Sriwijaya/NAM Air, ect.

○ Alor Island

The final link of the Lesser Sunda Islands – the chain stretching east of Java – is wild, volcanic and drop-dead gorgeous. There are crumbling red-clay roads, jagged peaks, white-sand beaches and crystal-clear bays offering remarkable diving. Isolated from the outside world and one another by rugged terrain, the 212,000 inhabitants of this tiny archipelago are divided into 134 tribes speaking 18 languages and 52 dialects. Although the Dutch installed local rajas along the coastal regions after 1908, they had little influence, with people still taking heads into the 1950s. These days animist traditions have been mostly replaced by Muslim and Christian ones. In more populated areas mosques dot the coast beside eye-catching, pasteltiled graves.

Though a network of simple roads now covers Pulau Alor, boats are still a common form of transport. The few visitors who land here tend to linger on nearby Pulau Kepa or dive these waters from liveaboards.

Get There

To get to Alor, you can take a flight from Kupang, the capital of East Nusa Tenggara. From Kupang there are several airlines that serve flights to Mali Airport in Kalabahi, the main town of Alor. The other option is by ferry which will take approximately 12 hours from Kupang to Larantuka, and followed by wooden boats to Kalabahi Seaport, which takes about one hour.

Rote Island

A slender, rain-starved limestone jewel with powdery white-sand beaches and epic surf, Rote floats southwest of West Timor, but has an identity of its own. For tourists it's all about the surf, which can be gentle enough for beginners and wild enough for experts.

Ba'a, Rote's commercial centre, is a sleepy port town on the west coast where fast ferry and flights land, but people don't tend to linger. Stunning Pantai Nemberala is home to the world-renowned T-Land break, and there are dozens of hidden beaches to the south and north. To find them you'll roll through villages, over natural limestone bridges and through undulating savannah that turns from green in the December to March wet season to gold in the dry season, which is also when offshore winds fold swells into barrels. Don't overlook the tiny offshore islands where you can find gorgeous ikat, turquoise bays and more surf.

Get There

Despite its remote location there's plenty to do, making it a wonderful tourist destination. But first, you have to get there! In order to get to Rote, you'll first need to fly to Kupang, Timor, from either Jakarta or Bali – from Bali the flight will take around 2 hrs

○ Savu Island

The Savu Islands (also spelled as Sabu or Sawu) measure 460,78 square km. and include Rai Hawu, Rai Jua and Rai Dana. The three islands are fringed by coral reef and sandy beaches. Rai Dana is a small, uninhabited island, situated thirty kilometres south-west of Rai Jua.

The land is for the larger part covered with grass and palms. The climate is dry for large parts of the year, due to hot winds blowing from the Australian continent. Most rain falls during the months from November to March. Between 82% & 94% of all rain falls during the west monsoon, with little or no rain falling for the months of August to October. The mean annual rainfall for Savu Island is 1019 mm. During the dry season, the islands' streams dry up, so the islanders depend on wells for their water supply. From April to October, deep ocean swells pound the south facing coastlines.

Get There

Savu island can be reached within 45 minutes by plane via Kupang or Flores and by slow boat or fast ferry (Pelni, twice a week on Monday and Wednesday).
